

Ayudando a Los niños a triunfar en la escuela

http://urbanext.illinois.edu/succeed_sp/parental.cfm

Estudios han indicado que los niños cuyos padres o cualquier otro adulto, comparte actividades educativas con ellos, tienden a ser mejor en la escuela. (Studies have indicated that children whose parents and/or other significant adults share in their formal education tend to do better in school.)

Brain Connections

<http://brainconnection.positscience.com>

With information of interest to parents and educators, this site offers opportunity to learn about the brain, and how to use it!

Center for Divorce Education, The

www.divorce-education.com

Children in the Middle is an educational and ethnically diverse program designed to teach parents the skills needed to reduce family conflict, school problems, depression and anxiety, and anger.

¡Colorín Colorado!

<http://www.colorincolorado.org/sobre>

Colorín Colorado es un servicio gratuito, basado en Internet, que ofrece información, actividades y asesoría a educadores y familias de estudiantes del idioma inglés como segundo idioma, en particular aquellos que hablan español castellano. (Colorín Colorado is a free web-based service that provides information, activities and advice for educators and Spanish-speaking families of English language learners ELLs.)

Dana Center

<http://www.utdanacenter.org/>

Want to know what is current in brain research, immunology, or arts education? Browse through this site for the news, read the publications, listen to broadcasts, and keep informed.

Education By Design

<http://www.edbydesign.com/parentres.html>

Practical learning ideas for parents. The website is dedicated to helping students of all abilities learn.

Family Fun

<http://www.familyfun.go.com>

Contains a wide variety of topics, activities, and information of interest to families.

Financial Aid

<http://www.finaid.org>

The smartest student guide to financial aid.

The Grandparent Foundation

<http://www.grandparenting.org>

Grandparents who explore this site gain access to timely information and opportunity to share interests, concerns and insights.

Great Website for Kids

<http://ala.org/gwstemplate.cfm?section=greatwebsites>

Children's librarians evaluate books, magazines, tapes, and software for children to find the best of all. Web sites are no exception. On this page, we have collected some excellent sites for young people. "Children" are defined as persons of ages up to and including fourteen and Web sites for this entire age range are considered.

Harvard Family Research Project

<http://www.hfrp.org/>

Since 1983, we have helped stakeholders develop and evaluate strategies to promote the well being of children, youth, families, and their communities. We work primarily within three areas that support children's learning and development—early childhood education, out-of-school time programming, and family and community support in education. Underpinning all of our work is a commitment to evaluation for strategic decision making, learning, and accountability.

Kidsource

<http://www.kidsource.com>

Helping your child with homework by Nancy Paulu is a helpful, thorough guide. If parents haven't started these practices early on, review them and provide some guides for teens. Some topics are talking to teachers about homework problems, learning styles, monitor TV viewing.

Leander Independent School District

<http://www.leanderisd.org/default.aspx?name=acad.ss.sprog.title1>

Leander I.S.D. welcomes the participation of parents in support of student learning and recognizes that parental involvement increases the opportunities for student success.

National Center for Fathering

<http://www.fathers.com/>

The National Center for Fathering features an online magazine, practical tips, research on fathering, a list of resources on fathering, and good links to other sites focusing on fathering.

National Coalition for Parent Involvement in Education

<http://www.ncpie.org/>

Primarily for educators with guidelines for parent-school partnerships.

National Fatherhood Initiative

<http://www.fatherhood.org>

The National Fatherhood Initiative seeks to improve the well-being of American children by increasing the number of children whose fathers are involved, committed and responsible. Information, chat rooms and activities that support fathers' efforts are provided.

National Parent Teacher Association

<http://www.pta.org/>

This is a study commissioned by Newsweek in 1990 is filled with statistics. The National Standards for Parent Involvement Programs can be found here. Goals include some organizing steps parents might expect from their child's school.

National Parent Teacher Association en Español

<http://www.pta.org/spanish/index.asp>

National Partnership for Women and Families

<http://www.nationalpartnership.org>

The National Partnership for Women and Families offers information to help parents meet the dual demands of work and family.

No Child Left Behind

<http://www.tea.state.tx.us/nclb/>

The Division of NCLB Program Coordination at TEA is responsible for the state-level administration and implementation of federal education programs under the No Child Left Behind Act and the Ed-Flex Partnership program.

Parent Involvement Matters

<http://www.parentinvolvementmatters.org/>

If you are a parent leader, educator, trainer, school administrator, or other professional looking for ways to build family-school-community partnerships, we can help. We are the home of ParentNet, a research-based parent-led program that brings parents together at grade level to learn from one another and build community.

Parents for Public Schools

http://www.parents4publicschools.com/Main_page.htm

Parents for Public Schools (PPS) is a national organization of community-based chapters working with public school parents and other supporters to improve and strengthen local public schools. We believe that quality public education is vital to our democracy and to America's future.

Parent Resources

<http://www.eduplace.com/parents/>

Activities and resources for parents, caregivers, and homeschoolers who want to help their children excel in school.

Project Appleseed

<http://www.projectappleseed.org>

National campaign for public school improvement. Resources to help parents get involved in schools.

Public Education Network

<http://www.PublicEducation.org>

Public Education Network (PEN) is a national association of local education funds (LEFs) and individuals working to advance public school reform in low-income communities across our country. PEN believes an active, vocal constituency is the key to ensuring that every child, in every community, benefits from a quality public education.

Texas Education Agency

http://www.tea.state.tx.us/index4.aspx?id=4225&menu_id=798

Texas Education Agency and the Division of NCLB Program Coordination are working with Region XVI regarding Parental Involvement activities. Please contact Region XVI, Title I Statewide School Support/Parental Involvement Initiative at 806-677-5126 for more information on Parental Involvement activities.

Texas Project First

<http://texasprojectfirst.org/>

Created by parents, for parents, this web site is a project of the Texas Education Agency and is committed to providing accurate and consistent information to parents & families of students with disabilities.

U.S. Department of Education

<http://www.ed.gov/parents/>

The U.S. Department of Education is committed to the success of America's children in school. After going to this website you will notice several resources that are devoted to including parents in the educational process.

U. S. Department of Justice

<http://www.ojjdp.gov/>

Juveniles in crisis—from serious, violent, and chronic offenders to victims of abuse and neglect—pose a challenge to the nation. Charged by Congress to meet this challenge, OJJDP collaborates with professionals from diverse disciplines to improve juvenile justice policies and practices.

WATCH D.O.G.S.

http://www.fathers.com/content/index.php?option=com_content&task=view&id=21&Itemid=60

WATCH D.O.G.S. (Dads of Great Students) is the father involvement initiative of the National Center for Fathering that organizes fathers and father figures in order to provide positive male role models for the students and to enhance school security.